The earliest known manuscripts of the Tale of Genji date back to the late Heian period and the subsequent Kamakura era. These texts were meticulously copied by hand, often by court scribes or monks, and reflect the high cultural status of the work within aristocratic circles.

The K?enji Manuscript and Other Early Copies

Among the earliest surviving manuscripts are the so-called K?enji Manuscripts, named after their association with the K?enji temple. Although the precise origins are shrouded in mystery, these copies are generally dated to the 12th or 13th centuries.

Features of Early Manuscripts:

- Material: Typically written on delicate paper or silk, with ink that has sometimes faded.

Conservation and Restoration Challenges

- Material Decay: Fragile materials require careful preservation.
- Fading Ink: Legibility issues demand specialized restoration techniques.
- Rebinding and Collation: Different editions may have combined fragments or rearranged sections, complicating textual analysis.
